The manufacturers have let the contract for unloading the heavy machine to a concern of riggers who will start the engine of the flat car and move it on rollers down to the power station and through the end door where it will be taken to pieces and moved to its resting place by the interior crane. The task of unloading will consume at least a week, Mr Brantley said today.

200 Enter Asylums Daily

By MAURICE HENLE
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Insanity is increasing steadily in the United States. At present more than 200 persons enter asylums each day.

In 1890 there were 106,000 insane in the country.

By 1924 this has increased to nearly 800,000.

If the present rate of increase should continue in 10 years one person out of every 200 will be insane.

Population of asylums and institutions for mental disorders is increasing from three to five per cent. annually—and there is no sign of abating.

Corridors of some institutions have to be used as dormitories.

Dr. Raymond F. C. Kiehl, medical superintendent of Mattewan State Hospital for the insane, takes an optimistic view of the problem.

"There was a time," he said, "when psychiatry did not have an important place in medical schools. Some schools ignored it. Others merely gave lectures, with very little or no clinical work. Those days are past."

"There is another reason for taking an optimistic view. There has been increasing signs of confidence by the public in hospitals for mental diseases."

In Mattewan the "population" has increased steadily for the past 20 years. But Dr. Kiehl warns that statistics should be closely examined for their true value.

"The increase has been in population," he says, "not in admissions. This means that there has been a steady accumulation. Some patients stay in institutions for years—some even 50 years."

Patients are admitted to institutions now, he points out, where in former years their cases would have gone unnoticed by their families, because the economic situation would not have been understood.

The immigration problem today presents a serious aspect. Many persons are admitted every year who should not be. Their admission would not be possible if a thorough examination were given the immigrant before he sailed for this country.

"For instance," Dr. Kiehl says, "let us say a steamer comes over with 1500 immigrants. It is impossible for the inspectors to give each one more than a superficial examination. Some types of insanity do not come to the surface immediately. A large percentage of immigrants find their way in 20 years to mental diseases."

In one sense, Dr. Kiehl thinks, our increasing civilization is responsible for the increase in insanity. With the advance of medical science, life has been prolonged. Many forms of insanity do not come on until later years, and so people who would have died in former years at an early age due to lack of medical knowledge, now live on.

Twenty persons a day are admitted into asylums in New York State alone. There are more people under institutional care in New York than in any other State.

Dr. Kiehl warns parents to watch for early signs of eccentricity in children, and to consult with competent physicians. Education is the one hope for those striving to fight mental diseases.

One thing is certain: Our asylums have three times as many patients today as they had 30 years ago.

More important than "population" as asylums, however, is the number of "new patients." In New York State alone in 1910, the number of new cases was 5444; in 1913 it increased to 6590; in 1922 it increased to 7403.

Dr. Kiehl has definite ideas about our immigration problem. Speaking of his own institution, he says:

"For the past 15 years the foreign-born averaged 45.9 per cent of admissions. During 1923 there were 73 foreign-born admissions, or 47 per cent."

"Without any desire to advocate closing of our ports of entry to those attracted to this country by its wealth and advantages, and who seriously wish to become a part of it, there is nevertheless a great necessity for selective immigration to prevent the unloading on our soil of the physically and mentally unfit from other countries."

"I believe that the unfit are purposely sent here with the expectation that our rich and charitable country will take care of them, which it does. The government should weed out undesirable on arrival."

Dry Fork

DRY FORK, Va., Aug. 6.—All crops in this section are looking much better since the rain. All crops were suffering, but more especially the corn and tobacco. The corn was in more danger than the tobacco, as it was just "shooting" at the time the land got so dry and had it been cut off very much longer it might not have matured well. The cotton did not seem to have suffered very much and the vegetables were just at the point where they would have suffered.

Sunday Services

Rev. M. T. Hartson held service at Oakland Sunday morning. After the usual prayer and singing he delivered a very fine sermon. Owing to the rain there was a very small crowd, but all who were present took interest in and enjoyed the meeting.

There was no Sunday school service on account of the hard rain just before and during time for the service.

Rev. J. T. Owen conducted services Sunday evening. The attendance was good and everybody seemed to have enjoyed the service. There was first prayer and some good singing and then a fine sermon, delivered by Rev. Owen.

Social Happenings

Rev. M. T. Hartson and family were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Taylor.

Mrs. B. H. Elliott is spending a few days with her brother, W. J. Crane.

Miss Eva Dallas, of Spring Garden, has been the guest of Misses Sarah and Lottie Terry, since Saturday evening.

Miss Della Crane was the Sunday guest of Mrs. T. J. Davis.

A. C. Elliott motored to Red House yesterday evening, spent the night and returned this morning.

Misses Minnie, Carrie, Selma and Mrs. F. H. Crane were the Tuesday evening guests of B. H. Elliott and family.

Miss Myrtle Elliott, who has been visiting at Lynchburg for the past five weeks, did not return Sunday, owing to the rain and damp weather, but is expected to return tomorrow.

Reports from the Sick

Mrs. George Collins still appears to be improving very rapidly.

Mrs. S. E. Hardy has seemed to be considerably better during the last few days.

Mrs. Luther Oakes is getting along fine.

Mrs. W. W. Worley seems to be some better.

Gretna

GRETN, Va., Aug. 6.—The congressional election passed very quietly here yesterday, only a few citizens taking any active interest. Only 121 votes were cast. Whitehead receiving 96, Booker 20 and Tudor 5.

The Primative Baptist association will be held at their church in Gretna Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 8, 9 and 10. A large crowd usually attends these meetings. There will also be two ball games here Saturday between the local team and the school team, one to begin at 10:30 a. m., and the other at 3:30 p. m.

Several Gretna citizens attended the Roanoke Baptist association at Chatham last week.

A much needed rain fell throughout this section Saturday night and Sunday. Tobacco and corn have shown much improvement this week, and with one or two more good rains at the proper time, there will be a reasonably good crop made in this part of Pittsylvania county.

A. L. Witcher, who has just returned from a business trip to Lunenburg county, reports that many of the farmers in that county are raising a reasonably large crop of cotton and that it is looking well.

Mrs. J. C. Hunt and son, Howard, left last week for Kansas where they will spend several weeks visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard May and Howard, Jr., of Richmond, Va., were guests of his sister, Mrs. J. H. Moon, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fitzgerald, Sr., have returned from a visit to their daughter, Mrs. James Borden, at Front Royal, Va.

George Dyer, Jr., and sisters, Eula and Francis, of Salisbury, Md., were visiting their grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Feagans.

Mrs. Mary Irby, of Alexandria, is a business visitor in Gretna.

Miss Hortense Inge and Miss Helen Booth, of Danville, are guests of Mrs. G. W. Feagans.

Miss Geneva McCachern, of Linwood, N. C., is the guest of Miss Daphne Webb.

Mrs. Carrie Carter has returned from a business trip to Ashland, Va.

Elisha Bennett has returned home having attended the first term of the summer normal at Charlottesville, Va.

Clyde Bennett is the guest of his mother on Music street.

Miss Violet Davis, from Portsmouth, Ohio, is the house guest of Mrs. C. W. McBride.

White-Collar Slaves Decrease

MISS LILY KIRALY, SECRETARY, AND LEONARD BRIGHT, PRESIDENT OF THE "WHITE-COLLAR" UNION.

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—White-collar slaves are fast wilting under their neckbands—not from too much work, but the lack of it.

During the past three months, according to the records of one of the country's largest employment agencies, the largest number of white-collar slaves have been falling off of 30 per cent. in the demand for male office help. And the salaries offered are 20 per cent. less!

"The decrease in the demand for female clerks," this report shows, "has been correspondingly great, and the salary drop identical."

"Even the office boy is feeling the pinch. The demand for his kind is but 40 per cent. of what it was last year, and the salary paid him is subject to a drop of five per cent."

There are more than 3,000,000 regulars in the white-collar army all over the country; with nearly half a million reserves recruited from school and college vacationists. Usually they have little difficulty finding in as substitutes during the summer months. But this year times are slack and the going is hard.

"Firms are apparently consolidating their office forces," say employment experts. "Little or no expansion is being undertaken."

Yet, while the demand is decreasing, the supply is increasing.

"Not only are the business schools turning out graduates by the thousands," says Leonard Bright, for 17 years a white-collar slave and now president of the Bookkeepers, Stenographers and Accountants Union, "but many of the young women, who took stenography and office work, merely as an avocation until they married, are now remaining at their jobs."

"During the past two years the clerical workers has increased markedly. The reason, of course, is to be found in the wages of their husbands—too low to maintain the high standard of living by most young people."

"Particularly pitiful is the situation of the bank clerks, who, as far as hours are concerned, are probably the poorest paid of the white-collar class. Some clerks holding positions of paying tellers, get as little as $30 a week for their responsible work!"

"But for wages, irrespective of hours, girl office workers hold the record—getting as low as $10 a week in New York, even though most of them are high school graduates."

Preceding the present depression, had been a ten-year rise in the average pay that reached its peak last October, when the average weekly earning of office employees in New York state, soared to $32.56 against $19.18 in 1914.

But now comes the toboggan.

"And with it may come all kinds of dangers," points out Miss Lily Kiraly, the young recording secretary of the union. "For many girls who are out of work have families dependent upon them. And they must bring in some earnings."

Miss Kiraly has been in the white-collar class for six years, since her graduation from high school.

"In all that time," she says, "my pay has been practically the same. Through experience I am able to increase it by doing public stenographic work."

"An expert at this, working very long hours, may make as much as $60-70 a week. But such instances are exceptional. The average stenographer seems content with making $25-$30 a week."

But the union, of which both Bright and Miss Kiraly are officers, is making an attempt to raise the wage to average between $30-$35 weekly.

Meanwhile the white-collar slave chafes at his job—or the hunt for it.

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Continued recession in almost every business field, with agricultural producers, favored by rising prices, constituting an outstanding exception to the trend, was shown in the federal reserve board's monthly review of business conditions made public today.

The countries of Europe at the same time were declared to be experiencing a commercial revival of considerable extent. Steel, textile, automobile and non-ferrous metal industries of the United States entered July with decreased employment, the reviews said, while railroad shipments, running 18 per cent. below the volume of a year ago and sales in distributing channels of the retail and wholesale trades alike dropped off. Accompanying declines were noted in wholesale price levels and in the volume of commercial loans extended by banks.

The recession condition in the line of agricultural production was noted chiefly in the cereal growing regions, although cotton was said to be promising a fairly sized crop at the present time.

Drought in the western range country and bad weather in scattered tobacco growing sections were adverse factors reported in the agricultural field.

Four Michigan residents have been elected to lead Male and Blue athletic teams next year. They are: Jim Brooke, track; Budd Quirk, golf; "Doc" Dillman, baseball; and George Haggerty, basketball.

PORTSMOUTH CONVENTION BID WILL BE SUPPORTED BY DANVILLE LEGION POST

Waverley H. Cousins, commander of Danville Post, American Legion, has called a meeting of all members of the Portsmouth convention committee to meet at the Danville Post, on Monday night at 8:15 o'clock when the final plans for the three day event starting here on August 25th will be taken up and decided.

Mr. Cousins believes that the attendance at the coming convention will be fully 500. Estimates are hard to arrive at in addition to the accredited delegates from the posts throughout the state there will be many coming here independently to enjoy the reunion and to revive memories of the world war, already ten years old. Some of the Posts are understood to be sending delegates with fractional costs, thus increasing the size of the delegations.

One local hotel has been requested to make reservations for twenty men from Portsmouth. At the Fredericksburg convention last year the post had a large number from that post indicating that the tide water city is already starting a campaign to win the 1925 convention. In this event the Danville Post will give its support for an agreement reached last year that this city would favor Portsmouth in 1924. It is recalled that in the close fight Danville won to secure the 1924 convention Portsmouth, at a critical moment, swung to Danville and it was in return for the support of the whole three days in Danville because he wants to revive the old associations of overseas. Mr. Pollard went with the A. E. F. as a Y. M. C. A. secretary and was constantly in touch with members of the Virginia legion.

As the date of the convention draws near interest is noted in all quarters of the state. The various posts during the past few weeks have been appointing delegates. The Chesapeake Post secured the contract to decorate the city is striving to secure a location in Danville where the material to be used can be kept. Representatives of the company also will canvas Main street stores for contracts covering store front decorations.

FRIENDS WILL GO ON STAND TO HELP LOEB

Sister and Girl Friends Are Ready to Help Loeb By Their Testimony

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Introduction of lay witnesses in the defense in the mitigation of punishment for Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed murderers of Bobby Franks, whom they kidnapped, brought from Robert E. Crowe, student of the University of Michigan, as the defense's first lay witness.

Miss Lorraine Nathan, a "school day" friend of Loeb, was on the witness stand when Mr. Crowe, in seeking to impeach her testimony, charged that she was "varying her remarks" from statements she had made in his office shortly after Loeb was arrested for the Franks murder.

After a minute recess in which the State's attorney and his three assistants considered the proposal, the hearing was resumed with Max Schreyer, student of the University of Michigan, as the defense's first lay witness.

Miss Nathan had just testified that she previously was fond of Loeb as he was of her, but that she did not feel that way now and that she would have told Loeb, Mr. Crowe's denial of the defense's right to have Miss Nathan read her earlier statement led to an early recess of the court.

Defense and State were directed to bring in authorities on the defense's contention that Miss Nathan should see the record of earlier remarks before proceeding as a witness.

Miss Nathan, the first girl witness to appear for the defendants, made a pretty, though somewhat nervous picture on the stand. She testified in a cool but somewhat catchy voice and she closed her eyes and her hands in her conclusions as to Loeb's conduct.

On the witness stand she avoided looking at the jury, but when she passed him as she left the court-room she clutched his arm, whispered in his ear and still was talking when a bailiff jerked Loeb away from her grasp.

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The prosecution today refused to accept a proposal by the defense for shortening the hearing before Judge John R. Cavery to fix punishment.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, who indicated that the defense was to dispense with lay witnesses provided the state would accept a blanket statement of what their testimony would be and would also dispense with calling further lay witnesses.

Langley Field Is Being Inspected

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Three young women, all friends of "Dickie" Loeb, have been called by the defense to appear today as the first character witnesses to be examined in argument in the testimony mental experts have offered Judge John R. Cavery in mitigation of the penalty Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., must pay for kidnapping and murdering Robert Franks.

Miss Lorraine Nathan, 18, pretty co-ed who was in Loeb's class at the University of Chicago, some of Loeb's fraternal friends, relatives of his governess, family friends and relatives will testify, defense attorneys indicated.

Neither of the slayers will take the stand but Forman Leopold and Allan Loeb, their brothers, will be called upon to identify pictures, books and other exhibits which will be used in evidence.

It is the plan to complete the character evidence before adjournment to-day and resume tomorrow the expert testimony with either Dr. H. S. Hubert, Chicago physician or Dr. James Whitney Hall, Chicago alienist, called by the defense.

Defense counsel has indicated the defense may rest its case next Monday. Meanwhile Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, who has contended since the start that a jury should try the youths on a plea of insanity, plans to continue his cross-examination attacks and to show how both are sane and not "emotionally childish," "narcissistic personalities," and "victims of childhood."

Large Attendance Meeting For Deaf

(By The Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 7.—The Virginia Association of the Deaf this morning opened its second business session and saw the address of its president, Benjamin E. Taffey, of Norfolk, delivered in the city hall.

More than 200 delegates are in attendance and are taking an enthusiastic interest in the business sessions and in the program of entertainment prepared for them.

The meeting which will begin tonight at 8 o'clock will be strictly for the transaction of business, but to-morrow morning a bonfire around the harbor has been arranged.

An interesting fact is the varied number of trades and occupations represented by the delegates. Among those registered are expert linotype operators, jewelers, jewelry store proprietors, electric shoe shop owners, a copper engraver, a stage engraver, a superintendent of the largest school for negro deaf in the world, situated at Newport News, and several land holders.

Langley Field Is Being Inspected

(By The Associated Press.)

NEWTON TOWNS, Va., Aug. 7.—The congressional committee which yesterday inspected Langley Field and the Hampton Roads naval base was very favorably impressed with these stations and with the possibilities for air service development at Hampton Roads.

"This is the greatest place in the world for increasing the air service," was the manner in which Congressman Reid summed up what he had seen. Other members of the committee, including the naval base, were agreed with him. Congressman O'Sullivan was greatly impressed with the strategic location of Hampton Roads, which army and navy men have characterized as "the military heart of the nation."

More adequate facilities and equipment are needed at both Langley and the Hampton Roads stations. In the opinion of members of the committee, the two stations with conditions at these two stations in order to intelligently conduct the inquiry into the air service, which will start this fall with a view to assembling constructive criticism and data.

(By The Associated Press.)

ON BOARD U. S. S. LAWRENCE, Aug. 7.—Two men of the destroyer squadron making its way northward to guard the course of the army aviators on their world flight, distinguished themselves while the squadron lay at anchor in Halifax.

And curiously both men performed their heroic feat in the same spot only two hours apart.

Rudolf Lenseigne is the mail orderly of the flagship Lawrence.

He had just landed at the city dock of Halifax on his way to the postoffice with mail, when he heard the shrill cry of a child, "Help, Help."

Looking for the source of the cry, he saw one-year-old Wilfred Woods, 12, sinking for the third time in the deep water by the dock.

LOYD GEORGE CRITICIZES THE SOVIET TREATY

Conservatives and Liberals Receive Announcement With Sheer Amazement

(By The Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The proposal of Prime Minister MacDonald to sign forth with the treaty between Great Britain and Soviet Russia, which was drawn up by the Anglo-Russian conference yesterday, drew a vigorous attack from the opposition when it came on the question was resumed in the house of commons today.

The premier refused to yield one inch to the onslaught and finally scored a victory when an amendment proposing adjournment of the house until tomorrow for further discussion of the question was defeated by 157 to 77. The offensive of the opposition at times produced acrimonious language and bitter comments.

"I want to sign the treaty today," was Mr. MacDonald's reply to the attacks of his opponents. He added that the house would be free to consider the treaty, to amend it, to pass it or to reject it.

However, the premier said, he insisted upon signing the treaty immediately. The debate was opened by Sir Robert Horne with an attack on the premier's procedure and a characterization of the treaty as an "illusory" and "illusory" agreement.

Mr. Curzon made an address along similar lines.

"This is a fake—a contract in every essential feature is left blank," exclaimed former Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons last evening in the course of a sharp criticism of the proposed agreement with Soviet Russia. His phrase is endorsed by the majority of the morning newspapers, which fully support the announcement which the conservatives and most of the Liberals received the announcement by Arthur Ponsonby, under-secretary for foreign affairs, that a commercial treaty and a general treaty had been arranged with the Soviets.

There is some favorable comment, the Daily Herald, Labor organ, naturally welcoming the "happy result" with "greatest satisfaction." The Daily News, Liberal organ, thinks that the agreement with the Soviets is a "very considerable achievement, for which praise is due." But it withholds definite opinion of the merits and possibilities of the treaty pending fuller examination of their terms.

Westminster Gazette, Liberal, without condemning the agreement, says the terms will need to be carefully scrutinized. The other newspapers are either scornful or angry of both.

The Times doubts that Parliament will ever agree to the proposals.

"The arrangement," it says, "not only leaves the main issues practically undecided but by raising false expectations which cannot be fulfilled, it endangers any slight prospect there might be of improved relations with the Soviets. x x x x x. Parliament will not sanction a loan on any terms to a defaulting government."

Swift Justice Is Meted to Negroes Who Slew Farmer

(By The Associated Press.)

BOWLING GREEN, Va., Aug. 7.—Otto Clear and Fritz Lewis, negroes, were indicted, tried and sentenced to electrocution on September 12 in Circuit court of Carolina county here today for the murder's last week of the Thomas R. Campbell, sixty-eight year old farmer of near Penola. The entire proceedings lasted a little more than one hour.

The negroes who were brought here early today from Richmond where they were taken for "safe-keeping," soon after their arrest, were indicted by the grand jury after only two witnesses had been heard. They were arraigned immediately on the three counts in the indictment and pleaded guilty to the charges of robbery, arson and murder.

Campbell was attacked at his home by two negroes who demanded money. When he refused his assailants shot him in the head with the rifle and revolver they carried, stuck knives in his hand tied him to his bed and set fire to the mattress. The house then was ransacked and some of the aged farmer's possessions, including a watch, a ring and a pocket watch, were taken. Campbell managed to loosen his bonds and made his way to the home of a negro farmer nearby. He died next afternoon soon after Clear and Lewis were taken into custody as they attempted to break through a fence which had surrounded a wooded section near Rixby in which Campbell's assailants were known to have taken refuge.

MANY JOIN RESERVE CORPS

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 7.—The officer's reserve corps camp, which opened at Langley Field, August 5, is giving instruction daily to the men who have reported for training in flying.

Over 200 applications were entered for attendance at the camp but only 80 could be accepted and almost all of these had been reported for training at the big flying field for the period of the camp, which breaks up on August 17.

The men in the camp are from the States of Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia and all of them hold reserve commissions in the aviation branch of the service.

CANNIBAL ANCESTORS

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The discovery of a new human bone, dating from the Neolithic period, at least 6,000 years old, in a cave near Auch, in the south of France, has given rise to the theory that cannibals once lived in that region. The bones all bear marks of teeth and apparently form the remains of some gigantic cannibal.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Let's hurl another brick-bat at Washington, the beautiful capital. Let's try to get another peek behind the false fronts behind which this city lives.

Washington's population is not a "producing" population. Although it is inclined, as a city, to turn its nose up at other cities, it is in no sense self-sustaining. It is parasitic. Actually, not figuratively, it lives off the rest of the country.

Washington's population falls into three distinct classes.

First—Employers and officials of the United States government.

Second—Tradesmen and their employees, who feed and clothe the employers and officials of the government.

Third—"Retired" individuals of wealth, with social or political aspirations, who find in life at the capital an opportunity to serve their own interests as well as their own pleasures by being "in the swim" of capital and government.

The result of this condition is that the only group with any permanent abiding interest in the development of the city is the second—the group which lives off the less permanent and less Washington-minded part of the population.

Many thousands of Washington residents, persons who have lived here for years, never think of Washington as "home."

"Home" is where they came from when they first got their job with Uncle Sam. It is where they keep their "voting residence." It is where they expect to return when they quit the government service.

In the meantime, with no voice as to how the city is to be run with only a "temporary" interest in its affairs, they accept unsatisfactory housing and transportation, high prices and mediocre service, and the deep sense of annoyance and inconvenience that beset the existence of the average sojourner here, as the lot of a temporary dweller anywhere, and make the best of it with a minimum of protest.

Among this group—and it is one of the largest in Washington—there is little loyalty to the capital city. It has taken from them in full measure for what it has given. It never becomes their city, their home.

They now know too well the rear sides of those false fronts which fascinate them. They may "love" Washington, but their love remains steadfast with Kankakee, Kalamazoo and Walla Walla.

One of the difficulties with Washington, on the material side of its evolution, has been its intensive development.

Washington is limited by the boundaries of the District of Columbia. It cannot expand. It cannot spread. It cannot sprout extra urban centers of comfortable homes and annex them as part of the parent city.

Anything outside the 73 square miles of the District of Columbia can hope to be a part of Washington.

You may be two miles from the White House, in Virginia, but you are an outlander.

You may be five miles from the White House, and "in" Maryland, and you are likewise outside the pale.

But you may be seven miles from the White House, and still inside the boundaries of the District of Columbia, and the rest of the United States will pay 40 per cent. of your city taxes.

The result of these fixed limits to what may ever be included in the beneficence of the nation is a close control, by a few large interests, of the undeveloped territory still within the District.

This assured monopoly has in turn made possible the capitalization of these lands on a scale which forces their sale in the smallest possible plots.

This makes for congestion and crowding, and suggests the fact of healthy, happy, "beautiful" capital city.

La Follette Still In Washington

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Priming himself for strenuous days of campaigning, Senator La Follette, independent candidate for president, remains practically in seclusion here. He is delivering no speeches, although he is preparing some for use later in the campaign, is leaving management of his campaign, particularly the details, to others, and has only a limited number of conferences with friends and political advisers.

As a rule the Wisconsin senator arrives about 7:30 a. m., and after breakfast and a leisurely perusal of morning newspapers goes to the capital. He rarely walks, preferring to ride in his automobile. Most of the day he remains tucked away in an out-of-the-way office, separate from his suite in the Senate office building, where his son, Robert M. La Follette, Jr., campaign director here, and a force of aides, do their work.

Senator La Follette tells inquirers that he is in excellent physical condition, having entirely recovered from his illness of the winter and spring.

HEAVY VOTING IS INDICATED IN TENNESSEE

Apparent That 15 Incumbent Congressmen Are Leading For Nomination

(By The Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 7.—As the Democratic hordes invaded the polls today to cast their ballots in the party primary, they were faced with what was indicated to be an extremely close vote in the nomination of a United States senator from among Senator John K. Shields, seeking re-nomination, Judge Nathan L. Bachman and General Lawrence Tyson. Judge Bachman is the nominee of the Republican party for the Senate, without opposition in the primary of that party, which is also being held today.

A Democratic governor and a member of the railroad commission is to be decided between Governor Austin Peck for re-nomination, opposed by John R. Neal and in the latter race, Harvey H. Hannah, incumbent, opposed by Sam E. Hill.

Republican nomination for governor will be decided between T. F. Peck and F. H. Thach; W. T. Testerman is the Thachian candidate for railroad commissioner without opposition.

There are two congressional contests. In the First district B. Carroll Reece is seeking re-nomination other candidates on the Republican ticket being W. I. Jones and F. P. Robinson.

In the Seventh district a Democratic contest arises with W. C. Salmon, incumbent, Clarence W. Turner, E. E. Eslick and Frank Hall as the candidates.

Estimates are that the Democratic strength in today's primary will run down from 150,000 to 175,000 votes with possibly one-third that many cast in the Republican, in the 2,114 voting precincts of the state.

The league of nations issue and the soldiers bonus both were injected into the campaign. Senator Shields having opposed these measures in Congress and the two other candidates endorsing them.

Spirited campaigns have carried the senatorial aspirants into every nook and corner of the state during past weeks.

Candidates for the Supreme court are A. W. Chambliss and William L. Cook; Court of Appeals, Robert A. Davis and Arthur Crowner.

Members of the general assembly and state committees and committeewomen will be nominated by both parties and the county elections are expected to increase the vote some.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 7.—Tom G. Taylor, former official of a tobacco manufacturing concern at Winston-Salem, N. C., appeared before U. S. Commissioner Stephen G. Long here yesterday to deposit $10,000 bond and waive removal hearing on an indictment charging him with conspiracy to defraud in connection with his company's operations. He is alleged to have misrepresented the prices being received for tobacco in order to influence prospective investors.

National Guards In Splendid Shape

(By The Associated Press.)

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 7.—The officers and men of the coast artillery regiment of Virginia National Guard, now in camp at Fort Monroe, are in excellent shape physically, according to the official report of Major Nelson Mercer. The report was made public this morning, stating that the entire regiment stood the shift from civilian to military life in a manner little short of remarkable. There are very few men on the sick list and these have minor ailments and should be back at work in a day or so.

The regiment is delighted with the report, for health will constitute 25 per cent of the final rating of the outfit.

The mess report also was made public this morning, the food, quality and preparation of the regular army and the cooks, Stewards and kitchen police of the national guard are said to be past masters at their respective arts.

The championship base ball game of the regiment will be played at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Lynchburg will meet Blacksburg for the regimental cup. These two teams are undefeated and interest in the contest is at fever heat.

The regimental track meet will be held at one o'clock this afternoon. Hundreds of visitors from the peninsula are expected to witness this, as some of the runners are rated among the fastest in this section of the east. The officers of Fort Monroe will give the officers of the regiment a dance at 9 o'clock tomorrow night.

Among the Richmond people expected to attend this function are Misses Marian and Elsie Snow, Virginia McSweeney, and Mrs. Fred D. Knapp.

PREVENTING BUSINESS FAILURES

An experiment which may result in a stabilizing effect on business generally is being made by the National Wholesale Men's Furnishing Association.
 The aim is to prevent failures
 among retail dealers through systematic extension of aid to those verging on financial embarrassment
 who are found to be capable of rehabilitation. The association is informed whenever a retailer begins to fall behind in meeting his obligations.
 Thereupon a questionnaire is sent inviting him to make a complete statement of his condition, the local business situation and other circumstances which may enable formation of opinion respecting the possibilities of saving him. Thus before he has become utterly discouraged or been thrust into bankruptcy the whole-salers' life saving crew is on the way to his rescue. After a study of the case, if it appears the man is qualified for the business he is in and he has not sunk too far toward failure,
 plans are devised for restoring his business to normal.

The beneficial effects of stabilizing
 one branch of trade by this or some other means would extend outside the single circle. It would result in course of time in establishing business in the most competent hands. Furthermore, proving successful as it is said to be doing, it would be copied by other trades with the result that we should witness a general strengthening of the country's business structure. For though there be no apparent connection between widely differing lines of trade, they are all linked factors in one whole. One cannot be adversely affected without the others bearing a share of the burden.

CLASHING OPINIONS AS TO CHICAGO-MURDERERS

It can be truthfully said that no event since the breaking out of the World War has received half the attention of readers that the Leopold-Loeb case at Chicago is now receiving. Most of the papers are receiving "cards" of individual opinion by the bushel and the variety of opinion is very interesting. Herewith, some of the more striking opinions are given, that this paper's readers may see how they fit with theirs.

Cleveland—"Leopold and Loeb are mere boys, without mental, physical or moral maturity, and their youth should save them from the noose.
 They should be incarcerated until their maturity shows what they really are and their degree of guilt. Tests and alienists merely discover the progressing, not the mature and full responsibility."

Los Angeles—"I'm against capital punishment. Give them life sentences, and hang the judge who releases them later on."

Baltimore—"Present day Society
 willfully promotes thrills in the young. Youthful thrill, like fire, is a good servant but a bad master, and when the thrilling gets away from Society, she is a hypocrite and brute
 to start a backfire of legal murder."

Memphis—"The constitution should be amended to permit a punishment equally as the murder was committed—the blows with the chisel, the strangling and all the other brutality.

 Give would-be murderers to understand that they'll get exactly what they give, and you'll have more mercy
 in murders."

Seattle—"Guilty beyond doubt, it would be a national calamity not to hang these murderers. What this country needs, to restore fast dying confidence in American justice and keep people from lynching and Ku Klux, is a strong demonstration that the rich cannot get off by buying alienists, lawyers and legal red tape.
 Millions of people are now saying to themselves 'Look at That!'"

Houston—"Alienists make out
 these boys to be 'crazy geniuses' intellectually remarkable. Don't hang them. The great in music, invention, medicine, literature and war have often been 'crazy geniuses.' No telling what these 'geniuses' might finally contribute to human progress,
 even in prison."

Cincinnati—"No Christian nation
 believing in Jesus Christ can take a human life, on any grounds. The 'Eye-for-an-Eye' law belongs in the world of brutes. We'll get Leopold and Loeb just so long as our laws permit unlimited fortunes to raise children as millionaires see fit."

"That premeditated murder was the only thrill left to these Chicago
 boys and was a natural, legitimate consequence, and life imprisonment
 is enough for the victims of it."

THE REFEREE

BY ALBERT APPLE.

WEI

The wettest spot on earth is the island of Maui, Hawaii, a meteorological claim. There, on a mountain summit, 458 inches of rain falls in the average year. More than an inch a day.

In other districts, farmers are praying for relief from drought. Nature is uneven in her distribution.
 She runs to violent contrasts—swamp or desert, beauty or ugliness. It is as if part of the earth were unfinished, other sections given more than their share.

This system of uneven distribution seems to be a natural law. People have either too much money, health
 and happiness—or not enough.

MARKET

The more the people make, the more they spend. Higher the standard of living, larger the business done
 by organizations that supply human wants.

This is illustrated. Experts say eight million homes are still un-wired for electricity (not counting farms)
 within reach of big power plants.
 Putting electricity into these homes
 would create a market for three million electric fans, four and a half million vacuum cleaners, two and a half million electric washing machines and millions of other electric devices.

Wealth is high would for selfish
 reasons raise wages and the standard of living as high as possible.

 tels were printed. These are worth $100 apiece. At least, collectors are paying that much. The real value is absolutely nothing.

Value is largely imaginary, outside of necessities and physical comforts.

 The high price of the stamp is a else can have.

Selfishness is one of the most powerful human animating motives.

CO-OP

Denmark continues as the shining example of what can be accomplished by co-operative societies. Some of the largest industrial and marketing concerns over there are co-ops.

A survey discloses that one of the most striking effects of these banding-together movements is a high standard in the quality of products.

People do better work when they have a voice in the management.
 Still better when they have a share of ownership.

SUICIDE

Suicides are increasing among the highly educated and well-to-do. But there's no increase among the population at large. So claims the consulting statistician of a big insurance company.

In regard to the highly educated,
 the reason is that nature begins to bring discontent and less peace of mind when we know too much. She is jealous of her secrets, wants to keep us submissive. As to riches bringing unhappiness, that's old-time
 humor, propaganda to keep the poor satisfied.

SOLDIER

Enlisted strength of the regular army is now about 124,000 men. This is one soldier to protect the lives and property of every 400 Americans.

Each soldier is guardian of two or three million dollars worth of national wealth. You wouldn't think so, to examine their pay.

The Nervous Wreck

by E. J. Rath
 ©1934 - by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Sally Morgan, daughter of the owner of the Bar-M ranch in Montana, has to go a distance of 35 miles from the ranch to catch a train for the east, where she intends to buy a trousseau for her wedding to Sheriff Bob Wells. Wells is unable to ride with her to the railroad station, so the "Nervous Wreck," a young easterner, would visit at the station in his little automobile. The sheriff ridicules the suggestion, but Sally and the Wreck
 set out anyhow over the rough, uncertain trail.

Running out of gasoline, the Wreck
 is refused a loan of five gallons by the occupants of a passing car. The Wreck holds them up at the point of a gun, forcibly takes the five gallons
 and leaves them with the same amount after letting the car out of their trap. To cap the climax, the Wreck makes the large man in the car crank his machine before starting out.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

He reached over, threw the switch,
 and the engine was off with a night-maring clatter. The big man staggered wearily toward the side of the road. Sally's gaze was arrested when the guard nudged him roughly as the driver sprang into life. They heard him shout something, it sounded like a threat, although they could not catch the words. Then the Wreck took a solid grip on the wheel
 and began to creep forward.

Once Sally looked behind her. The height of the motionless car had faded to small points. She glanced at the Wreck. It was not possible to see his face clearly, but she could imagine the expression. It was grinning his teeth and staring at the Wreck. It was five minutes before she spoke, and then she cut loose.
 "You've done it now!" she exclaimed. "You sure have fixed the pair of us this time. Have you gone stark mad?"

"Don't argue," advised the Wreck.
 "Don't you know what you have done? Don't you realize anything?
 Do you think you can get away with a thing like that? Why, you've committed a crime! And if they catch us—"

She left the sentence unfinished,
 her eyes leading to things too awful
 for contemplation.

"Who in blazes is going to catch us?" he demanded. "They won't. I'll take them half an hour to blow up those tires and then I'll burn pretty good. I'll leave them about four gallons and after fifteen miles or so they'll go dead, like we were. Don't you worry about getting caught."

Sally shook her head in despair.
 "Why, we'll be caught before daylight!"

"Get five dollars!"

"Tomorrow, anyway," she went on,
 ignoring his challenge. "And they'll have a perfectly good case against
 you. You held them up with a gun—
 my gun!"

"They ought to have been held up
 They had it coming to them. They ought to have been shot full of bullets," said the Wreck, fiercely.

Sally was angry, but of course he could not see that. She sat with her first clenched and her lips set tight.
 The flivver went on steadily through the night.

Chapter VI

An Act of Providence

It was after sun-up when he arrived at a touch on the arm. Sally's eyes blinked rapidly as she straightened in the seat. The flivver was moving along at a slow pace, intended to promote the comfort of a sleeping passenger.

"Morning," said the Wreck. "Sorry
 to wake you but I wanted your expert opinion."

"Morning," yawned Sally; then
 shook herself into full wakefulness
 and inspected him. "Have you been driving all night?"

"I had to. She was prepared to acknowledge a tremendous respect for his endurance, for he was not flying any signals of weariness. But he shook his head with a grin.

"I stopped for a while, after you got asleep. I didn't need any sleep
 I just can't sleep. But I let the engine cool out. There wasn't any hurry, anyhow."

"Nobody—passed us?" She asked anxiously.

The Wreck shook his head and laughed. He was in fine spirits for a man with guilt on his soul.

"What I wanted to ask you about was this wire fence," he said. "We been following it for a couple of miles. What's it mean?"

Sally inspected the fence, which followed the line of the road.

"It's somebody's wire, of course,"

she answered. "It means there must be a ranch around somewhere."

"Do they have breakfast at ranches?"

"A better had?"

"My idea too," he said. "Whereabouts would this ranch lie, reckoning without the aid of any mountains or other visible landmarks?"

That brought a smile to her face.

Plainly, the wire was an excellent fence. The morning. He was disposed to be almost playful.

"I'd say it's on the same side of the road as the fence," replied Sally.

"And if we haven't passed any gate yet, we'd better keep on until we hit one. There's sure to be one."

He nodded and continued to drive,
 while Sally studied the country. It was not mountainous, but decidedly hilly, and she knew at a glance that it must lie at a considerable distance from the Bar-M ranch.

Presently her thoughts returned to the big car and its passengers, and she caught herself looking backward
 over the rolling road, wondering what had become of them.

"Here's a gate," said the Wreck.

There was more than a gate. There was a plain road, running under it and off into the hills beyond. Without waiting for a consultation, he climbed down, opened the gate, then drove the flivver through it. He was going straight ahead when Sally stopped him.

"Always close the gates after you
 out in this country," she said, jumping out. "They're put there for a reason. Cattle."

"I was in a hurry for breakfast,"

he explained.

The private road was a long one,
 as Sally judged it would be. She knew something about the size of ranches. It was nearly a quarter of an hour before they came within sight of anything but hills and hulilows.

Then the ranch buildings flashed abruptly into view as the road emerged from a patch of young spruce. Sally studied the picture with a critical eye. The ranch house, the stables, the outbuildings, the corrals, all classified themselves swiftly
 under her survey.

"That's a pretty big house," she commented. "Looks sort of new, too."

Standard Life Insurance. "Come
 stand those hills rise, off yonder, back of the house. Pretty, isn't it?"

"I can't see anything but bacon
 and eggs," said the Wreck.

"And when they ask questions,
 we're a couple of tourists. Don't forget that," said Sally, significantly.

"I'm supposed to be a dude, too."

The flivver came to a stop in the doorway, just as an am emerged from the house. He was a tall, lean man, with scraggy mustache, an air
 of studiousness, and a few several approaching.

As he walked over to the car he was still scrutinizing them with a pair of keen, steady eyes.

"Are you the proprietor?" inquired
 Sally.

She knew better than that, but she was trying to play a part.

"I'm the foreman, ma'am."

"Oh, well, I'm sure you're the very person I want to see. Can we get breakfast?"

The foreman rubbed his chin and gave her a further appraisal.

"It sort of depends," he said. "Can you cook?"

"Yes!" It was a chorus from two in the flivver.

A few seconds the foreman
 transferred his gaze to the Wreck,
 who seemed to have acquired sudden interest in his eyes.

"It happens, ma'am, that we ain't furnished with a cook. We had a Chinese, and a Chinese helper. But they blew on us yesterday. But there's plenty of grub, and if you want to cook it, help yourself."

He waved a hand in the direction of the kitchen. There was a surprising expanse from the flivver.
 Wreck beat her to the kitchen door
 by a couple of yards. The foreman followed.

"Till show you where everything is," he said. "Tell you the 'ruth-kind of hungry, I guess. The boy had to rustle their own breakfast
 this morning and they didn't make out none too well. I bet some of it and I know what I'm talkin' about.
 So if you don't mind, ma'am, while you're cookin' up something, make it liberal in quantity. My name's Charley McGreen."

He looked expectantly at the Wreck.

"My name's Williams," said the Wreck, taking the hint.

The foreman shook hands and glance
 at the direction of Sally, who was already clearing a place on the stove.

"My wife," said the Wreck.

"Pleased to know you, Miss Williams."

Sally had whirled about her cheeks suddenly pink. She shot an amazed glance at Henry Williams and received look of warning in return. Charley McGreen laughed.

"I've seen honeymooners before,"

he said. "I was married once myself. It ain't nothin' against anybody."

Sally opened her lips to say something, broke into a queer laugh and turned to the stove again.

It was the kind of a breakfast that comes once in a long, long time,
 when you are ready for the meaning and find yourself sitting down to the best. The Wreck ate with a concentration that was appalling. Even the foreman, who was accustomed to all sorts of appetites, watched with an admiring eye. Sally
 and the Wreck were still eating, when Charley McGreen pushed back
 his chair.

"I'm sayin' that was a regular breakfast," he declared, as he wiped his mouth. "The lady sure knows how to fry bacon. I kind of like to have my eggs fried up; but that's nothing against her, because I didn't say so. Coffee was A-1. I can't say as I usually eat toast, but I've got no objections to it. Can you make biscuits, ma'am?"

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotion Revealed in Private LettersLETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON
TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

DEAR JACK:

If I were not so sorry for that splendid girl who was unfortunate enough to marry you, I would let you go to—well, to the place you are headed for in your own way.

It doesn't seem possible to me, Jack, that any man should be such a criminal fool as you have been. Yes, I consider it criminal. Just because your little bump of vanity has been thumped, you have decided that you are a great one of the sweetest, most loyal and devoted wives I have ever known, has done something for which you cannot forgive her.

You have always known, Jack, that Karl Whitney has been in love with your wife. You told me with great pride how you had taken her away from him. Knowing this, what in the demitition how-ows are you kicking about? Why should you, being so proud of the fact that another man wanted Leslie, be horrified that he still has a predilection for her?

As far as I can see your wife has never given you the slightest reason to doubt her devotion to you since your marriage. As for your thinking that this Whitney chap hatched a deep-laid plan by means of these pearls to stick you in the ribs some day and get Leslie back for himself, I think you have gone crazy.

What do you expect to do? It looks to me as though you had started something you couldn't finish. You perhaps, won't like it, Jack, but you seem to be your long suit. You think too much of John Alden Prescott, and too little of your friends and those who love you. I'm getting all out of sorts with you, Jack.

If ever I saw an asinine move, it was when you formed one of the wedding party and walked on your arm, when your wife was supposed to be with her dying father. I'll bet you the gossips didn't sleep that night, from talking about it.

If you'd had any decency, you would have gone with your wife when she went to her father, not with the hurt to your pride and egotism.

Everybody calls me an incorrigible old bachelor, but the more I see of men—the more I like women.

Man will be devoted to you, man will be devoted to you, he'll be a faithful husband only so long as the friend, the sweetheart and the wife keep putting his bump of vanity. But a woman will suffer humilation as your wife has done, and still be a ministering angel, as your wife has been. It is the woman that sticks, Jack, every time.

Don't come to me with any more of your troubles until you have gone to Leslie and begged her, on your knees if necessary, to forgive you for everything you have done.

What are you going to do now about the money Paula wants to settle on little Jack? Are you going to, either with the child or the money, if Leslie doesn't come back to you.

TOMORROW: Letter from Sally Atherton to Beatrice Summers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Ocean liner Row, Gen. p. m. Great piers where great boats arrive and depart for strange lands. Aliens, clad in colorful garb, edging away in the dark, new of a "Yellow" light.

A tipsy sailor from a foreign port. Three cooks in kitchen white out for a breath of air.

The Olympic is sailing at 1 a. m. Happy crowds arriving in limousines and taxicabs. "Get a fix and wave good-bye to your mother-in-law."

Banks an aged man with a large stock of flags of all lands. An elderly matron in black stares at him in derision. Must have a married daughter.

A man in a Brummel suit, with a Paris opens a handbag to extract his passport. What ho! The clink of bottles. Taking a sandwich to a sure-fire banquet. Bet he always has an extra collar button in his vest pocket.

Many sightseeing visitors aboard. Visiting an ocean liner and a desire for travel that cannot be denied. Hello, there! Gloria Swanson, the movie actress. She is wearing brown sun-glasses, a pink dress, black cape and hat to match.

Good-bye, her Betsey, take off your disguise. Gloria. She came to say good-bye to Forrest Haley, her story adapter, going to France to prepare the way for her new picture.

Deck stargazers haggard and worn. They've been on duty 17 hours. One o'clock in the morning is an unusual sailing hour from this port. But it is popular. Except with those who are seeking publicity.

Photographers don't work at night. The meanest trick played tonight. Somebody sent that jolly fellow a sample of every remedy for sea-sickness on the market. He admits he'll probably need them.

A crowd of cock fighting to peer through a stateroom window. Wonder who the popular person is? Chas. De Roche, the French movie idol who has been here 20 minutes and has a cage lion with side-show spectators looking on. He'd have made a good football player. Shoulders like a full-back.

Clang! The warning bell. All visitors off. Scramble. Kisses and bluing in before putting it on the clothes.

Wentworth

WENTWORTH, Aug. 6.—Court proceedings at Wentworth today produced nothing startling. Violations of the prohibition law was the chief charge against a majority of the defendants.

The following cases were called and disposed of:

State against Bonnie Byrd, larceny, not pros.

State against Charlie Halgaton, disturbing public worship, not pros.

State against Sam Williams, violating prohibition law, plead guilty; judgment $50 and costs.

State against George Price, violating prohibition law, plead guilty; fined $50.00 in first case and in second sent to county roads for 30 days.

"LEFTY" WILSON HITS THE PILL FOR CIRCUIT CLOUT, TREON FORCED TO RETIRE

Danville took the final of the four-game series with High Point 6 to 4 making the series a fifty-fifty affair. The Tobacco City team won six of the ten games played, an excellent record and one which, if maintained will put them in the fight for the pennant.

Manager Herndon of this visitor sent in Treon, a new hurler recently acquired from the Asheville club, but he was forced to retire after one man had been put out in the fifth inning. Hunter succeeded him on the hill. The big relief hurler had poor control, issuing six bases on balls in the three full innings he worked, but he was fortunate that only one run resulted from his own generosity and that from his own balk in the seventh inning. The balk really did not matter, however, for he passed the next batsman, which would have forced a run in had he not balked.

Laurence Wilson, who pitched for the Murphrees in excellent form except in the eighth inning when he was hit hard and three of the four runs of the visitors were batted in. Their other run came from a three-base error by Manager Murphy, a high overthrow to first base followed by G. Thresher's single. Two hits in the opening inning were fruitless and in the second third, fourth seventh and ninth innings Wilson allowed one hit in each, all of which angles and one out which Allison beat out in the seventh.

The Champions bunched hits in the third, fifth and eighth for their runs and another came in the seventh from two passes, a single and a balk. Pitcher Wilson himself put Danville in the lead in the second when he hammered the ball over deep-right field fence, scoring Cochlin who had gotten on by an error by Schmidt. Who let a grass-cutter scoot under him.

In the eighth inning Manager Herndon opened with a four-baser over McDonald's fence. This seemed to unsteady Wilson, for LaVoie beat out a slow roller toward third and La Thresher drove the ball to the fence in center for two bases. Allison's long fly to right scored LaVoie and then Schmidt the hitting star for the day, cracked and corking home a banger to left scoring Thresher with the third run of the inning.

Several pretty plays marked the contest. One of these was a long and beautiful throw by LaVoie catching Staley at the plate in the fifth when he tried to score on Murphy's long single to extreme right. Allison made a fine play when he intercepted Thresher's sharp bouncer over second and nailed the fleet runner. Still another was a clever play by Staley retiring Meekin on his apparently safe hit over second. The bating of Staley, Schmidt and Wilson was noteworthy.

It was deplorable that so small an attendance marked a so pretty and well played game, and it is difficult to account for, save on the theory that the patrons are not pleased unless the game is a close one.

DURHAM MAKES CLEAN SWEEP OF HOME SERIES
DURHAM, Aug. 6.—The locals swept the series here with Winston today by winning the last game 4 to 6 due chiefly to errors and walks on the Jackson.

In the second inning Mallonee walked. Jones walked. Hayworth struck out. Mahoney pegged to third to catch Mallonee who was attempting to steal the throw was wild and Mallonee came on home.

In the third Winston tied the score. Hamby singled. Stande popped to third base. Hamby was safe at second when Brummett errored. Hayworth's peg, B. Smith singled and Hamby counted.

In their half of the third the Bulls took a two run lead when Dougherty tripled. Smith sacrificed him home. Brummett doubled and scored on Mallonee's single.

In the sixth Winston scored three runs. Smith singled, went to second on a fielder's choice. Mahoney popped to short. Smith came in on Johnson's double. Inman doubled and Johnson scored. Werts singled and Inman scored across the pan which ended the opposition's scoring for the afternoon.

The home team scored the winning run in the sixth. Brummett and Mallonee walked. Lennox sacrificed. Jones flew out. Hayworth hit to Inman who threw a mile over Mahoney's head and Mallonee and Brummett scored.

Pep Thompson has been released by the Twins. Ben Smith will be released along with another class man, Lloyd, the property of the Twins who has been working in the Florida State League, will report and three infielders announce.

less a team wins. Tuesday's double decker was to win many away. On the other hand, it is no near feat to break even with so strong a team as High Point in a four-game series and out for an unfortunate defeat in the first game. Tuesday's Danville would have topped three of the four games.

Browns Take 5th Straight From Senators; Yanks Win

BROWNS CONTINUE THEIR ONSLAUGHT ON SENATORS ANNEXING FIVE IN ROW

Dizzy Vance Repeating
Christy Mathewson's Reputation of Being Able to Win Ball Game by Tossing Glove Into Pitcher's Box.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—St. Louis continues to burn up the American League ladder path and to attract most attention than any other club in the circuit. As a result of their fifth straight victory over Washington, which incidentally was their sixth straight win and their ninth in ten starts, the Browns today seriously threaten the supremacy of the three leaders. Since the season began, St. Louis has won only three games and a half behind the top-notch Yankees, two and a half in the rear of the Tigers and a half game in the wake of the Senators.

An opportune rain storm at the close of the fifth inning gave Detroit a 5 to 2 decision over New York on the strength of a half-day's work. The Tigers drove Bush to cover in the first frame and were very less considerable of Manauk. Ruth hung up his 35th circuit drive in the fourth. Ernie Wingo arrived on the scene just in time to keep St. Louis winning string intact. With the tying run on second Davis resigned in favor of the brilliant youngster, who retired the next two Washington hitters and pulled his mates through by the narrow squeak of 8 to 2.

Cleveland, emulating its Missouri neighbors, is nursing an embryo winning streak of its own. By their 8 to 5 triumph over Boston the Indians made it four straight. Boone, of the Red Sox, hit his third homer of the season.

The Giants added another game to an already overwhelming lead by downing Chicago 5 to 2, while Pittsburgh was losing to Brooklyn. The National League champions now are in the van by 8 games and a half. McGraw's outfit sailed the contest away in the opening round by counting five times.

Dizzy Vance is winning the reputation once possessed by Christy Mathewson of having tossed his glove into the pitcher's box. The Robin hurler turned in another beautiful exhibition of ball tossing in letting the Pirates down with four hits and three runs while his mates were patterning five runs fanned 10 and ran his strike out total for the season up to 169.

Cincinnati scored a 3 to 2 win over Philadelphia with a minimum of effort, as rain put an end to the proceedings in the fifth inning.

Boston stepped out of its losing rut long enough to turn the tables on St. Louis by a 5 to 3 margin.

ST. LOUIS CONTINUES TO WIN; BEATS WASHINGTON

(By The Associated Press.)
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—Pennant dreams that were so tragically buried after the crucial series with the New York Yankees near the end of the season have again thrown their magic touch around the Browns' roster as a result of the local team's recent sensational drive toward the leading position of the American League.

Having humbled the Washington Senators in the straight games, the Browns brought their string of victories to six yesterday by trouncing the Senators 6-5 and today are prepared to continue their pennant drive at the expense of the second division Athletics.

Observers agree that the Browns' recent success is to be attributed to the splendid work of the pitching staff. The reversal of form of Urban Hoyer, who on Tuesday pitched one of the best games of his career when he shut out the Senators with three scattered hits, the sensational work of the young southpaw Ernie Wingo and the steady pitching of Dave Janney and Dixie Davis have added the local fans into visions of 1924 pennant.

As a result of the Browns' triumphs only 31-2 games separate them from the coveted first position. After making a clean sweep of the series with Washington, the local Americans recently won one half game to the rear of the third place Senators.

Coupled with the excellent pitching performances the flawless team work of the Browns also has contributed greatly to their recent uphill drive.

Good fielding, as well as contributing much to the Browns' renewed drive in the 1924 pennant.

No Shortage of Farm Labor Now

(By The Associated Press.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 7.—For the first time in many years the reports of the various branch offices of the State Federal Employment Service did not state a shortage of farm help but on the other hand one place reported a surplus of such labor, according to the reports made to the Director M. L. Shannon, commissioner of Labor and Printing for the period week ending Saturday, August 2.

Most of the offices stated that supply and demand of labor was about balanced. Wilmington, however, stated that the demand for common labor had fallen off to some extent due to the road projects not employing as many men as usual on account of the weather.

Greensboro reported that on the whole labor conditions were generally improved over that of last week. The fact that the textile mills were still operating on half time and that there was a shortage of common labor.

Placements for week just ended total 610 of which 441 were men and 169 were women. There were 513 registrations, of which 511 were men and 2 were women. The requests for help numbered 637 and the department referred 707.

Greensboro was second with 103 and Charlotte came third with 91. Other offices were in order: Wilmington 48, Winston-Salem, 97 and Raleigh, 79.

Many Certificates From Normal School

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 7.—The Asheville Normal Summer school wanted 1439 certificates of credit; to the teachers that attended there during the recent session which closed on Saturday last, according to an announcement made public by John E. Caffee, president of the institution. The attendance this year was almost as good as that of last summer. It was stated, despite the fact that the standards of the school were raised and no one was allowed to attend the school who was not eligible to attend college. Every teacher attending the school this summer was granted a certificate showing the number of credits that she had earned by following a set course studies outlined for her.

Dr. Caffee asserted that the session held this summer was the most successful ever operated in the summer by the school. He said that the next year are for the strengthening of the faculty and the courses given at the school.

SOUTH HEADED TO AN UNUSUAL DEVELOPMENT

Region Extending Across Southern States to Be Big Industrial Center.

(By The Associated Press.)

GRIFFIN, Ga., Aug. 7.—The south is headed toward an industrial expansion hitherto undreamed of. Senator Walter F. George predicted in an address prepared for delivery today before a joint meeting of the Georgia State Agricultural and the Georgia State Horticultural societies, in session here.

The great mountain region, 150 miles wide, extending down through Virginia, the Carolinas, into Georgia and Alabama and other territory running through Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas to the Mexican border, he declared, is destined to become the industrial center not only of America, but of the world.

Choosing as his theme the general condition of the farmer, Senator George declared that the government "must and can lead the way" to legislative relief for the grower and that that remedy is not so much to equalize the farm and farm values upward as it is to equalize general production and distribution costs downward.

"It is undeniable," he continued, "that freight rates are excessive. The question is not one of debate—the fact is imperative. Ultimately the rates must be grouped and reduction in rates, freight and passenger, is immediately necessary."

Another barrier to the relief of agriculture, he said, is the tariff, which he described as the highest in the history of the government.

Depreciating the steady trend of migration from farms to cities, Senator George reminded his hearers that farming is the oldest and most basic of all industries, adding:

"Upon it civilization has rested from the beginning; upon it civilization must rest until the end of time. All other industries may perish and yet the farm will sustain the race. If the farm fails, mankind must perish."

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Psychology on golf links is indicated as patently as on other fields of sport. Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd seemed able for instance to score quite as low as Glena Collett and some times lower, on the way to the final bracket in golf at Shennecossett.

But when the two met for the final test the odds were strongly in favor of Miss Collett.

GET A HEADACHE VS. GET GLASSES

"Oo-oo-oo!" It was like a knife through the temple. He was unfit for rest or enjoyment of work. "Can't you keep quiet?" he flared out at his son, playing with a metal toy. His wife checked the young engineer with, "Stop this minute! Don't you see your father is suffering from one of his headaches?"

How tragically she said it, as if headaches were an incurable disease. And yet how many of them are easily avoidable! For what are the facts in this commonplace episode? The facts back of nearly all headaches? Defective eyesight. Some say 90 per cent. of all headaches are caused by eyestrain; no authority puts it less than 70 per cent. Leave it to your own experience. When getting a headache, you close your eyes, don't you?

Of the twelve pairs of nerves in the skull, six have some connections with the eye. No wonder the dull ache from eyestrain occurs in any part of the head! So when defective eyes are called upon to do the eye-work required by modern life, the tired ocular muscles set up pain along the nerves connecting with the other parts of the head. A correctly fitted pair of glasses gets at the cause. Glasses banish not one headache but a thousand. Think what it would mean to the man of our story and his whole family if he knew what glasses would do for him! Think what it would mean to hundreds of thousands of people who just for the lack of knowledge about glasses, needlessly endure the agony of headaches and cannot work to win! If you have headaches, have your eyes examined without delay.

THE GUMPS

I'll be glad to meet old timer.

I hope he's out at the lake. I don't want him to see us getting towed in like a wounded canal boat.

Well, old sage-brush, how are you? I brought my wife along to give you a hand. A pair of love birds can be when the male bird rules the nest—speaking of rulers, how is your wife?

Well, Andy, after looking at your automobile I'm glad I own a horse and buggy. A horse may not be as fast or as noisy as an automobile but I never have to pour hot water on him to make him start in cold weather.

What do you use dynamite?

NEW YORK COTTON.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Reports of Texas and Oklahoma were followed by heavy liquidation in the cotton market at the opening today. Opening prices were easy at a decline of 51 to 62 points with October selling off to 27.55 and December to 27.00. Heavy covering in anticipation of tomorrow's government report checked the decline, but rallies of 15 or 18 points met increased liquidation and the market was unsettled during the first hour. The sharp break in Liverpool was attributed to the Texas rain news. Numerous private reports were received here from the southwest reporting showers or rains in west and north Texas and southern Oklahoma.

After the first rush of selling was over the market rallied to 26.68 for October and 26.49 for December, a recovery of 25 and 19 points respectively from the initial lows.

(Thomson & McKinnon)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Practically all of the Porto Rican and Philippine crops having been marketed, the trade must now look to Cuba alone to furnish raws for immediate requirements. Lack of rains in sections of Cuba as well as in some of the western beet districts, a development well known for weeks, but not marketed, has reversed sentiment considerably. We anticipate a slow but steady recovery in futures.

DAVIS SOUGHT CONFERENCE WITH GOMPERS

Correspondence Published Last Night Setting Forth of Davis Request

(By The Associated Press.)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7.—Members of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor predicted today a nation-wide interest in the publication of a letter of correspondence which showed that John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, recently had sought a conference with Samuel Gompers, and explained why the council refused to defer endorsement of the La Follette-Wheeler candidacy until after Mr. Davis' acceptance address.

The correspondence was between Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor and John W. Wilson, former secretary of labor and of the united mine workers of America and present member of the staff of the Democratic national committee at Washington.

It consisted of a letter directed by Mr. Wilson to Mr. Gompers here on Aug. 1, asking that he have the executive council defer endorsing La Follette; of a letter from Mr. Wilson received after the endorsement was announced; and of a letter directed by Mr. Wilson to Mr. Gompers dispatched today in behalf of the executive council explaining to Mr. Wilson why the endorsement was made, when, and as it was, and referring to the post convention correspondence between Mr. Davis and Mr. Gompers.

The correspondence set forth that Mr. Davis had last July 17, begun negotiating with Mr. Gompers for a conference, that conflicting engagements kept them apart until Mr. Davis suggested that Mr. Gompers give him "a statement of questions, in which labor is chiefly interested," in which labor is chiefly interested.

It set forth that Mr. Gompers, professing a willingness to confer with Mr. Davis, declined this last request, saying "I cannot submit questions to you which would not be equally submitted to other candidates for the presidency."

Campaign Plans Being Formulated

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Republican party campaign plans, in a process of formulation since the nomination of President Coolidge, are to be brought up here next week for final consideration.

At that time all leaders of the party will be here for the exercises of the formal nomination of President Coolidge of his nomination on August 14—and the results of nationwide surveys will be taken up by the chiefs with the President.

It is the opinion of C. Bascom Stamp, the President's secretary and one of his close political advisers, that the Republicans will wait for the opposition to make the first move. The Republican ticket, he says, has been gaining favor throughout the nation and a campaign of an extended nature is not necessary until the opposition has shown its hand.

Henry Negro Is Held For Killing

(Special to The Bee.)
MARTINSVILLE, Va., Aug. 7.—Burke Preston, a negro, was today held for grand jury action on the charge of shooting and killing Mitchell Preston, near Chednut Knob a few days ago. According to evidence secured by the authorities, Burke Preston went armed with a revolver to his victim's home. When Mitchell Preston asked for an explanation of the revolver, it is said the reply was a shot, the bullet taking effect in the head and causing instant death.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Aside from satisfactory progress in Europe there is nothing before us this morning that should create any unusual activity. A good many are looking for a reaction and we may get it in some stocks. They won't all go down together any more than they all went up together. If we have a reactionary period in the market it is going to be a very irregular one; but beneath the market are forces that won't permit more than a temporary setback. That the trend remains upward and will continue so until big business is here.

My idea of the market is that while profits are always in order during big and strong markets, the seller should be prepared to take advantage of the reaction to replace stocks sold. Otherwise, the reaction is of no value to him.

MORNING GRAIN LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)
CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The pronounced activity in wheat export trade gives a healthy market. Buying has been reported as largely by the United Kingdom. Some exporters now believe that Italy, Germany, Holland, Belgium and Scandinavia have yet to provide for nearby requirements. This condition will offset any estimate of increased yields which may appear in the government estimate. Purchases are indicated.

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Liverpool is very weak this morning on heavy selling as a result of southwestern rains. The crop condition in Texas is the all important element in the market at this time and this will undoubtedly be followed by some liquidation here. Should the rain in Texas become general, it will add materially to the crop and be followed by revised crop ideas.

Sentiment here is divided but most of the trades is inclined to the bear side and will probably press the market at every opportunity.

A WONDERFUL PICTURIZATION OF

Robert W. Chambers "BETWEEN FRIENDS"

A great love story played by a star cast

Lou Tellegen, Norman Kerry
Anna Q. Nilsson, Stuart Holmes

The Motion Picture Exhibitors Herald, says:

"This is undoubtedly one of the finest things J. Stuart Blackton has made for the screen and one of the best pictures Vitagraph or any other company has had to offer in months. Adapted from Robert W. Chambers' popular novel, it is exceptionally well acted throughout and directed with many deft touches. Beautiful sets abound and the photography and lighting effects will appeal to the most exacting."

NEW YORK STOCKS.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of today's market. Profit taking in some groups was conducted simultaneously with bullish demonstrations in others, initial changes, as a result, being of a fractional nature. Norfolk and Western and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe each gained a point.

Mixed price movements continued throughout the early dealings, but the main tendency remained upward. National Lead advanced 3 1/2 points to 156 1/2, a new high and Shulte and Foundation company also broke through their previous high levels. Frisco preferred, General Electric, United Cigar and General Baking advanced 1 to 2 points. Federal Light and Traction broke 41 1/2 points to a new low at 75 and Dupont, Famous Players, Colorado Fuel yielded a point or more. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

Strength of the railroad shares and a sharp break of nearly 5 points in Davidson Chemical were the features of the early afternoon trading. Pere Marquette, Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson, Jersey Central and Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis all roughed new 1924 highs, the gains ranging from 1 to 7 points.
